

About the ADRN

The network is a collaborative partnership of Care Coordination Units (CCUs) and Centers for Independent Living (CILs) who serve older adults and/or adults 18 years of age or older with a disability. The ADRN serves as an integrated access point where consumers of all ages, incomes, and disabilities can receive information and assistance, assessment of needs, options counseling, referral, assistance in completing benefits applications and follow up to ensure that referrals and services are accessed. The ADRN is visible, accessible, consumer focused, inclusive and supportive to facilitate ease of access into the system no matter what the individual's or family's economic or social need.
